MOTOR TRUCK TRAIN TO VISIT MAYSVILLE THURSDAY, SEPT. 2

Motor Truck Dealers of Cincinnati Will Endeavor to Interest Farmers of This Section in Owning Trucks Through Demonstration.

The biggest train of motor trucks ever assembled outside of New York and Chicago auto shows will visit here on a tour of education covering the agricultural sections of Kentucky, adjacent to Cincinnati, assisting in the nation wide movement to demonstrate to the farmer and grower how to more economically operate their farms. The tour is being conducted under the auspices of the Cincinnati Truck Dealers' Association. Practically four-fifths of the population of the United States resides in the cities, throwing a tremendous burden upon the farmer of feeding this four-fifths. Yearly the young men of the farms are drifting into the cities to find more profitable employment.

It is a known fact that the pneumatic tired trucks will accomplish what it takes four teams of horses to do. It takes the products of five acres yearly to maintain each horse, while the truck does not consume anything unless actually at work.

To motorize the farm seems to be the only logical solution in bringing about proper and equitable marketing as an aid to production in the agricultural districts of the country. This tour is purely an agricultural educational enterprise and there will be no attempt made to make any sales.

The advance committee was here today making arrangements for the reception of this modern caravan, which will arrive in Maysville on Thursday, September 2nd, at 4 p. m. A local committee of well known citizens will assist in welcoming the motorcade. This committee will include Mayor Thos. M. Russell, chairman; J. R. Kirk, J. J. Kain, Arthur Glascock, C. E. Galbreath and Clarence Mains.

LARGE FISH IN KINNEY BITES FOOT OF BOY

Although Many Kinds of Fish Have Been Found in Kinney, Here's First Man-eater.

"A most unusual accident took place Sunday at Kinnick when Bernice, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stamper, came near being swallowed, Jonah style, by a large fish of the pike species. The boy was sitting on the edge of the creek bank dangling his foot in the water at the edge of a deep hole and a large pike in passing concluded that there was his chance for a meal, and making a dash swallowed the boy's foot. The fish wasn't long in making up its mind that a great mistake had been made and released its human prey, though not before it had very seriously injured his foot. It cut a large gash on top of the boy's foot near the instep and left holes in the sole of the foot where its teeth had penetrated. Monday the lad's foot was greatly swollen and was giving him much pain. Nothing like this has ever happened hereabouts within the memory of our oldest inhabitant."—Vanceburg Sun.

STATEMENT MADE OF SCHOOL OPENING BY SUPERINTENDENT

All Arrangements Are Now Under Way For Opening of School On September 7th.

Prof. W. J. Caplinger, Superintendent of City Schools, has just issued this statement on the opening of school:

About this time of the year fathers and mothers begin making various school inquiries. We shall have something else in this paper later on, but are making this statement anticipating questions that may arise in the minds of the patrons. To begin with, school opens Tuesday morning, September 7, at which time all students regularly classified will be given a list of books and will be dismissed, those that are irregular will be examined and advised as to what they should do. All those pupils that took summer school work will likewise be advised that morning as to their work. High School students will be retained most of the day, getting the schedule arranged and their classes assigned.

We are having some difficulty in getting teachers, but we wish to say to the public that we are putting on no teachers so far, that are not highly qualified. We are taking on no new grade teachers that are not, at least, High School graduates and have had some college and normal work. Our High School teachers are the same as last year, with the exception of two, Miss Schirmer, graduate of Peabody College, and Miss Tucker, graduate of University of Kentucky. Miss Tucker has none no regular teaching but some substitute work. Miss Schirmer has been teaching several years and is a woman of considerable experience and training. The other eight teachers have taught with us before, consequently, will at least, have one year more experience than they had last.

We have recently tinted the walls, painted the woodwork of most of the rooms of the school buildings, have installed a new lathe in the wood shop, purchased some new books for the library, and in general have done a number of things to make the building attractive and the work offered by the schools more inviting. The board of Education has been looking after the repairs of buildings practically all summer.

We have been doing some driving in the country, in the east end of Mason and Lewis counties and find a number of students that will be with us the coming year. Despite the fact that some people may think otherwise, the graduates of Maysville High School will be admitted to any college in the United States that will take the graduates of any other High School. Some few colleges will not admit graduates from any school without entrance examinations. The reason why we have this high standing is, that we employ no teachers that are not themselves graduates of the leading institutions of the United States.

Should anyone wish to confer with us concerning their work for the coming year, please call or write and we will arrange a definite engagement.

W. J. CAPLINGER, Superintendent.

RAINS OVER THE STATE ARE SPREADING BLIGHT

Reports Received at Experiment Station Indicate Large Increase in Damage By Weed Blight.

There has been a change for the worse in the tobacco disease situation in certain sections of the Blue Grass, according to reports received in Lexington Wednesday. Large numbers of diseased plants from various farms in this and other counties are being received daily at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and it is indicated that since the recent rain "wildfire" and "rust" have spread in the sections infected before the rain.

Despite the damage done by the bacterial diseases and the usual trouble from "black root," a disease which every year causes considerable damage by attacking the roots of tobacco plants and killing growth, farmers believe a record crop will be cut this year.

Dr. W. D. Valleau, plant pathologist of the Experiment Station, who is leading the fight against the diseases for the College of Agriculture, is keeping daily watch on the infected sections. He is of the belief that the situation is as serious as ever. Professor Valleau is advising farmers to harvest their crop as soon as evidences of "wildfire" and "rust" appear.

A booklet describing the two diseases and suggesting ways and means of guarding against them is now being prepared by the Experiment Station and will be ready for distribution before the spring seed bed season. Not much work is being done on the booklet at present as all available tobacco experts of the station are hard at work on a solution of the present problem.

Mrs. C. L. Wood has returned from her Eastern trip and will resume her Bible teaching Sunday morning in the First Presbyterian church.

The advance sale of tickets for Lasses White's minstrel opened this morning with a big rush.

ALLEGED FORGER TO BE GIVEN HEARING ON SATURDAY AT 2 P. M.

Young Man Represents Himself As Two Different Parties in Writing and Cashing Forged Check On Flemingsburg Bank.

Lee Anderson Pollitt, of the Mt. Carmel neighborhood, who figures as a principal in the taking of a horse and buggy from a local livery stable and keeping it several days last year, figured in the forgery of a $35 check here late Thursday afternoon.

Pollitt went to the Farmers & Traders Bank and there pretended that he could neither read or write. He asked the assistance of Mr. Donald Wood in drawing a check on the farmers' Bank of Flemingsburg for $35 payable to Charles Kelley and representing himself as H. P. Glascock, had Mr. Wood sign that name to the check and then he made his mark.

In a few minutes he went to the Squires-Brady clothing store and made a purchase amounting to $21. He there represented himself as Kelly and offered the check. Mr. Brady gave him $14 in change and the goods were left in the store for a time, he saying that he would return for them in a short time. Mr. Brady became uneasy and telephoned the Flemingsburg bank finding that there was no such account at that bank. The matter was reported to the police and Pollitt was soon found on the streets.

Pollitt was brought out in Police Court this afternoon but because of the absence of City Attorney from the city, the case was continued until Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CALL SENT OUT FOR MORE NURSES IN KENTUCKY

Secretary of Health Board Pleads That More Young Women Study For Trained Nurses.

Mrs. T. M. Russell has just received this letter from Dr. A. T. McCormack, Secretary of the State Board of Health:

"My dear Madam: A most serious danger at present confronting the health of the people of Kentucky, is the threatened shortage of nurses.

"Young women who have finished high school can receive in the modern nurses' training schools, the equivalent of a university education, practically without expense to themselves.

"There is no more necessary or dignified profession than that of the trained nurse. Kentucky training schools at present need 200 applicants—the City Hospital of Louisville alone desiring 40 immediately.

"I am writing to urge your cooperation in securing at least one more high-grade pupil for one of our training schools. The applicant should be healthy, ambitious, energetic and of good character. At the end of her course she has a profession for life, or with a few months' extra work, can become a public health nurse and hold a salaried position that will assure her a comfortable living and a dignified profession.

"Will you not make an effort today to interest one whole one young woman of your city to enter the greatest profession open to women? Please have applicants or others interested address their replies to Miss Marian Williamson, Director, Bureau of Public Health Nursing, State Board of Health, Louisville, Kentucky."

TELEPHONE LINEMEN QUIT WORK AT DECREASE IN WAGES

Five Linemen Employed by the Maysville Telephone Company Resent Reduction in Their Wages And Quit.

The Maysville Telephone Company seems to be having real labor troubles in most every department and today the local office was without a line force because the entire force of linemen—five men—had refused to return to work this morning after they had been advised of a reduction of their wages.

Although Manager Corman, of the local company, was out of town today and none of the striking linemen could be located this afternoon, it was learned at the office of the local company that all of the linemen failed to go to work this morning and that the cause of their failure to go to work was said by them to be the fact that their wages had been lowered by the company.

It seems as though since the big sleet storm which did so much damage to the telephone lines throughout this county, all of the linemen have been paid an increase in salary but as that work is now all done and there is nothing but regular line work to be done, they have been reduced to their regular salary basis as before and the men are not willing to work for the old price in face of the present high cost of living.

At the local telephone office this afternoon it was stated that a message from Manager Corman at Louisville was to the effect that the linemen be informed that an equitable adjustment would be reached immediately.

Foreman Collins, of the line crew, has been transferred to Paris an dleft for his new work this morning. He was not with the crew that did not resume their work.

GLAD POLITICS ARE ELIMINATED

Endorsement of New School Board By Farmers Is Voiced
By High Official In National Organization

The American Farm Bureau Federation is emphatic in its attitude toward education in the rural districts. Mr. J. H. Crenshaw, the treasurer of this great organization of farmers, in a recent interview granted your correspondent, declared:

The Kentucky Farm Bureau stands for the elimination of politics from the control of educational affairs. The farmer boy and girl of Kentucky are entitled to the best mental training it is possible to secure. The question for to make the world a better place because of our having lived in it, then we must look to the public schools for preparation for life; for the intellectual life of a people will never rise higher than its public schools.

GREAT PIECE OF WORK

The Hon. J. N. Camden was visited in his country home near Versailles by your staff correspondent this summer to secure his viewpoint of the new school laws. That he is heartily in favor of them is shown by his statement which follows:

I know the rural school because I live in the country and see it at work during the whole school year, and I know it needs improvement.

I feel that the two political parties in Kentucky did a great and fine piece of work when they combined forces and passed a group of new and thoroughly up-to-date school laws. Among those laws passed none will be more far reaching in its results than the one creating a Board of Education for each county, composed of five members, who will have the power of selecting a county superintendent and thus take the office out of county politics.

Next November the public will naturally be very much interested in the national candidates and the national issues, but the matter of good schools and strong teachers should not be forgotten for a single moment. Good schools in the Twentieth Century are vitally important to each and every county in the Commonwealth. The voter should not forget that the finest and best National Government in the world will not educate the boys and girls out in the country. So it is up to the voters in Kentucky to see to it that progressive County Boards of Education are elected next November.

HON. J. N. CAMDEN,
Versailles, Ky.
Democratic National Committeeman.

years past has been how can this be accomplished, now the solution is presented in the new school laws.

A law is no stronger than public sentiment, no law will work automatically. Are the farmers really and truly interested in the education of their children? Are they really and truly 100 per cent Americans? Are they opposed to Bolshevism? Do they think this government worthy of, and are they willing to do their best that it be perpetuated?

Everything depends upon the interest manifested in the election of the County Board of Education, of the election of men who will without fear or favor stand first for a square deal for the boys and girls of the State; who will have their interest as of first consideration; their future as of prime importance.

That there are a number of men and women in every county in Kentucky fully competent to compose these boards is unquestioned. The County Farm Bureaus should take an active part in impressing on them their responsibility; on calling the attention of the people to them, on seeing that the names of such men and women are placed on the ballot and on an aggressive campaign that their election be assured.

The Kentucky Farm Bureau endorses unqualifiedly the law creating the new County Boards of Education and will wholeheartedly give its aid to any county asking for assistance in advising the people of the great opportunity it offers, for happier homes, for more prosperity, for the greater service and for bigger living. The lives of people can not be greater than their ability to live and their ability to live is measured by their knowledge of life. If we are saved to serve and born into the world to render service,

ARMY DEMOCRATIC IN ITS ATHLETICS,
GENERAL SAYS

Brigadier General Shows That Private
Has Same Show as Officers In Athletic of the Army.

"I wish some of the people who put up loud cries about how our Army has been Prussianized could have cast an observant eye on the nine representatives of the Regular Army on the Olympic track and boxing teams, who are now in Antwerp. Four are enlisted men; five are officers. Every man Jack of them won his place because he put out the others. In the Army finals at St. Louis I saw officers and men in the hardest kind of competition, and when a soldier put is over the officer, he got the decision."

This was Brigadier General Edward J. McGlachlin saying it. He commands the Seventh Division, which won the Central Department meet and is sending more successful competitors to Antwerp than any other division. The General made the point that when it came to any such foolish idea as that an officer couldn't engage in competition with his men, somebody was spoofing the public. Officers and men on the Army Olympic team won their places by sheer merit.

"Why," exclaimed General McGlachlin, "Lieutenant Joseph Cranston, our snappy middleweight, fought his way through many hard-hitting soldier men in the ranks before he won the distinction of representing Uncle Sam's Army at Antwerp. On the other hand, Sergeant Tod Schneider, the Army's light heavy; Private Fred Kolberg, welterweight; Sergeant E. J. Fowler, lightweight, and Private John Lesser, flyweight, all pounded their way through regimental, divisional, and departmental preliminary bouts, putting out many a contender before they were picked for the big show."

General McGlachlin went on to say it was the same in the field and track events, and in swimming and wrestling. All this is no new thing in the peace-time Army, as any old soldier knows. There has to be discipline, and during the World War ours was the best in Europe because the relations of officers and soldiers were guided by a sense of duty, a determination to win, and by sympathetic mutual understanding and interest. But that business is over, the discipline necessary to a desperate campaign against a ruthless enemy has relaxed, and officer and man are equals not only in participation in athletics, but in all activities not of necessity requiring the obedience essential to leadership and teamwork.

"Speaking of discipline," added General McGlachlin, who has been in the Army more than 30 years, "In peacetime it is reserved for the strictly military relation. You will find discipline in industry. You can no more put loaded rifles and pistols in the hands of a great number of men without strictly enforcing a general plan of conduct than you can set men to work running passenger trains, or handling great converters filled with tons of molten steel, without supervision. So where the profession of arms is maintained you have and always will have discipline—public safety demands it. But in the field of sport, the attitude of the Army always is, 'May the best man win.'"

"If, as we are so fond of saying here, sport is one of the best social levelers, then the Army is one of the most democratic institutions in America."

One point should not be forgotten when candidates for places on this board are being voted for and that is that they must not be pledged to any special person for the office of County Superintendent. The voter should help elect strong men on the board and leave them absolutely free to select a county superintendent who will make good. In other words, the voter should think of the boys and girls in his county who are not getting a fair square deal in the matter of schooling and forget who happens to wish the office

ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST AMERICAN METHODIST BISHOP

Francis Asbury Was Born 175 Years Ago Today and Was to America What Wesley Was to Methodism in England.

New York, Aug. 20. — Methodists throughout America will recall today as the 175th anniversary of the birth of Francis Asbury, the first Methodist bishop in America. In churches throughout the country the coming Sunday will be set aside for special sermons in honor of the memory of the famous pioneer.

What Wesley was to Methodism in England, Francis Asbury was to the cause of that faith in America. He performed, indeed, prodigies of energy and perseverance in preaching his gospel in the great wilderness of the new world, which Wesley never could have done.

Beginning his itinerant missionary efforts immediately after his arrival in Philadelphia from England in 1771, at the age of 26, he pursued his indefatigable labors until he died at the ripe age of 71. He began preaching in Pennsylvania, traveled through New Jersey and New York, initiating the first regular circuit work in America, and covering Delaware, Maryland and Virginia with lines of missionary travel.

His powers of endurance and the results that he accomplished were astonishing. In traveling through unsettled regions, he was glad to find repose in the cabin of a settled who could offer no bed but the top of a chest, but as a rule not even this accommodation was at hand, and he was forced to find rest on the bare ground, with no covering but the clothes he wore, or on the boards of deserted cabins.

Frequently for days he rode on horseback over rough roads, where he and his companions were the sole travelers, crossing rivers and rugged mountains, and often reduced on extended journeys to half fare.

After he came bishop, in 1784, his personal efforts, instead of diminishing, were increased. He established new circuits in North Carolina, New Jersey and Kentucky, and the revivals in Maryland and other parts of the country increased greatly in enthusiasm and attendance.

Asbury's annual salary as bishop was $64 a year, with traveling expenses, and he maintained a continual struggle to keep himself supplied with food and clothing enough to make it possible for him to move about.

His most remarkable journey was to Georgia across the rugged mountains of North Carolina in 1788, when he was overtaken by tremendous rainstorms. He was suffering part of the way with a raging fever, and at night he lay down in his wet clothes in whatever place of shelter he could find, traveling in this way 110 miles before he could stop to rest. He died in Virginia, March 31, 1816, literally in the harness, while journeying to a general conference at Baltimore.

Asbury's name has been perpetuated in the celebrated Asbury Park and in various church structures, but his fame among Methodists is enshrined in the Methodist Episcopal book of conference, of which he laid the foundation; in the Methodist missions, which he founded, to the frontier settlements of the country, and in the Methodist Sunday school system, which he was the first man on the American continent to introduce.

He founded the Methodist church in America with a few little meeting-houses and 300 communicants and left it with 214,000 members, controlled by bishops, with 2,000 preachers and itinerants, having traveled in its service over 270,000 miles and preached more than 16,500 sermons.

Asbury was a personal friend of Washington and exerted a strong influence on the American side in the Revolution.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. John Burns, W. Second St., Maysville, says: "I was subject to severe spells of backache and other kidney trouble. They would come on every three or six months and there were times when I was confined to bed and rendered helpless. The quick and decided benefit I received from Doan's Kidney Pills was wonderful. I have never had such severe attacks since."

Nearly thirteen years later, Mrs. Burns said: "I have the same good words of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever. I haven't needed a kidney medicine since I took them."

Ohio Distributes Liquor Illegally Removed From Kentucky, Federal Agent Says.

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—Dozens of persons, among them municipal and federal officials, will be arrested shortly in connection with what John H. Parson, internal revenue inspector, termed today "a gigantic $25,000,000 rum conspiracy, operating in Kentucky, Ohio and on the Atlantic coast."

More than 20 Clevelanders are implicated, he said.

Federal authorities have been working on the case for several weeks and it is nearly ready to be presented to a federal grand jury here, Parson said.

Since January 16 approximately $25,000,000 worth of liquor has been removed from government bonded warehouses in Kentucky and Pennsylvania by theft or fake permits and distributed through agencies in Ohio to Eastern states, Parson said.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON AUGUST 22, 1920.

Topic: A Prayer for Pardon. Psalm 51; Luke 18:13-14.

REV. J. J. DICKEY.

This Psalm is the experience of one who has sinned and desires pardon. It represents him as seeking pardon through prayer to God. This is God's way for men to obtain pardon. God has never had but one way of pardoning men, in all the dispensations men have always had free access to God for pardon without any intermediary. Christ was a "lamb slain from the foundation of the world." Blood was the only thing necessary.

This Psalm is the experience of one who had been saved; but he had sinned and therefore he was under condemnation. Sin separates a man from God, and he must be restored to God's favor before he can have joy or peace or purity.

This Old Testament saint got back to God just like New Testament saints get back when they fall away by sin. He confessed his sin to God and pleaded for mercy. He knew that when God forgave him he would restore his lost joy, so he prayed for that too. But pardon was what he asked for. That is what every sinner should seek. Every sinner is a condemned criminal, and he continues to be that till he is pardoned. Time will not take away guilt. When a Christian commits a sin he will never have peace till that sin is pardoned and it will not be pardoned till he forsakes sin, confesses it to God and begs for mercy. There will be no joy in that heart till that sin is forgiven. There are two ways to get rid of a debt—a financial obligation—one is to pay it; the other to have it forgiven or released by the creditor. But there is but one way of getting rid of sin, that is by pardon. Christ's atonement made it possible for God to pardon sin and yet be just.

God does not promise pardon until men have repented. Repentance is the decision of the one who has sinned to sin no more. There may be much sorrow and yet no repentance. God stands pledged to pardon the one who quits sinning and asks for mercy, for Christ's sake. When the sinner has decided to quit sinning it is not hard for him to believe that God forgives him and that is faith. He must pray until his faith takes hold on God for pardon, and then the joy comes into his heart, as a witness to his soul that his sins are forgiven. This is the fruit of the spirit that witnesses to his spirit that he is forgiven. When God forgives a man's sins he does not leave him in ignorance as to that fact, but reveals it to him by the Holy Spirit. The pardon of sin makes a man a Christian. When a Christian sins, pardon restores him to his former relationship and gives him back his joy. The reason men do not pray for the pardon of their sins is because they are not willing to quit sin. They want to go to heaven when they die but they do not want to quit sin. This they cannot do. "Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish." Let every sinner of every grade take warning and pray for pardon until the pardon is granted and he has the witness in his heart that his sins are all taken away. Then he will rejoice.
